"Ancienne bibliothèque de l'Hôtel de Ville" (t. III, p. 151-380) was reissued as a separate volume of the "Histoire générale de Paris" the same year (1873) under title: La première bibliothèque de l'Hôtel de Ville de Paris (1780-1789). propos" and index were added. The number of impressions taken of three plates illustrating this article seems to have been insufficient to supply both issues. Thiers having taken care to have the separate issue supplied first, one or the other of all three of the plates are usually lacking in 1. or the "Anciennes bibliothèques" where they are specified in the list of illustrations as no. 122 (port. of Turpin), 123 ("Les bibliothèques de la bibliothèque de la ville" 4 port. on 1 p.), and 124 ("L'église de l'abbaye" port. of Nicolas de Lorry). It may also be noted that although volume 3 is dated 1873, that part containing Thiers' monograph (written 1868) must have been printed before 1871; no reference is made by note or otherwise to the destruction of the library. May 24, 1871, during the Commune, a fact mentioned however in the "Avenant" to the separate issue.

... Les anciennes bibliothèques de Paris ... 1873. (Card 3)
Of the monographs incorporated by Franklin in this work several had appeared separately in book form, notably the history of the Mazarine (1861) N. L. L. (1861) Faculté de médecine (1864) Abbaye de Saint-Victor (1865), and a series of the shorter notices had been printed in the Bulletin du bibliophile 1864-1870 under the caption "Les anciennes bibliothèques de Paris" while some others first printed in the present work were later published separately, designated as second editions, with additions and corrections: Bibliothèque du roi (1873), La Sorbonne (1875).

Way to wealth (Welsh)

The following paper is supposed to have been written by a celebrated American philosopher, (Doctor Benjamin Franklin) at Paris: for the purpose of borrowing money for the use of the United States of America; and it has had a wonderful effect: large sums having been lent, in consequence of the sound and irrefutable facts and arguments contained in it. It has been translated into the French and Dutch languages, and printed; and it is now circulating in Holland, Flanders, &c. London, 1777.
